

ABOUT THE PARTICIPANTS

DE'ANDREA WIGGINS, Ph.D., is Interim Director of the Office of Diversity and Inclusion for the WSU School of Medicine leading efforts to broaden the availability and diversity of exceptional students who will become tomorrow's successful physicians by innovatively promoting the outreach, mentoring, and recruitment of persons who represent the diversity of our global community.

MARC W. KRUMAN, Ph.D., Director of the Center for the Study of Citizenship, is also Chair of the Department of History and Professor of History at Wayne State University. In addition to his many publications, he has received the President's Award for Excellence in Teaching and the Board of Governors Faculty Recognition Award (twice).

KIDADA E. WILLIAMS, Ph.D., is Assistant Professor in the WSU History Department and specializes in African American history, violence and victimization, and social movements. She just published They Left Great Marks on Me, a book on African Americans' testimonies about racial violence and the origins of the first institutionalized campaigns of the civil rights movement.

MARSHA RICHMOND, Ph.D., is Associate Professor of History at WSU where she teaches courses pertaining to the history of science and medicine. She is currently completing a book on the German physiological geneticist Richard Goldschmidt and collaborating on another book about women's work in genetics 1900-1940.

DEBORAH S. WALKER, Ph.D., R.N., is an Associate Professor in the WSU College of Nursing and Graduate Program Director of the Nurse-Midwife and Women's Health Nurse Practitioner concentrations. She has a keen interest in American history and genealogy, and has ancestors that participated in the founding of this country and fought in the Revolutionary and Civil Wars.

JEFF O'DEN, is a historical documentary filmmaker with 20 years of professional experience as creator, writer, director and producer in cable, local, network and syndicated television; he's also been an adjunct professor. He is currently working on a non-fiction book and dramatic television series about the American Civil War.

For more information about our presenters please visit the Binding Wounds Pushing Boundaries website at www.lib.wayne.edu/bw

BINDING WOUNDS PUSHING BOUNDARIES

African Americans in Civil War Medicine

Many histories have been written about medical care during the American Civil War, but the participation and contributions of African Americans as nurses, surgeons and hospital workers have often been overlooked.

Binding Wounds, Pushing Boundaries: African Americans in Civil War Medicine looks at the men and women who served as surgeons and nurses and how their work as medical providers challenged the prescribed notions of race and gender.

BINDING WOUNDS COMMUNITY EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

Saturday, April 14, 2012
1:00 – 3:30 PM

Margherio Family Conference
Center
340 E. Canfield, Detroit MI

Courtesy Library of Congress

Courtesy East Carolina University

Courtesy Toronto Public Library, Abbott Collection

VISIT THE NLM TRAVELING EXHIBIT THROUGH APRIL 28!

Location: Shiffman Medical Library, 320 E. Canfield, Detroit MI
Free to the Public | Open Mon-Thu 7:30am-midnight, Fri 7:30am-8pm,
Sat-Sun noon-8pm | Call 313-577-4118 for directions

For more information, please visit the Binding Wounds Pushing Boundaries
Website at www.lib.wayne.edu/bw

Special thanks to the Binding Wounds Planning Committee

Mark Bowden | Rachael Clark | Linda Draper
Cindy Krolkowski | Sandra Martin | Marsha Richmond | Tom Roe
Theresa Vettese | Deborah Walker | De'Andrea Wiggins

We are also grateful to the Shiffman Outreach Library Advisory Council
Jena Baker-Calloway | Linda Draper | LaVentra Ellis-Danquah | Mary Kordyban
Phil Kucab | Bonita Leavell | Sandra Martin | Zakari Tata

We especially appreciate the assistance we received from
Curtis Kratt | Mary Simmons | Ron Spalding

~ ~ ~ We thank all our sponsors and participants for making the exhibit and events possible ~ ~ ~

This project has been funded in whole or in part by the National Library of Medicine, National Institutes of Health, Department of Health and Human Services under Contract No. HHS-N-276-2011-00005-C with the University of Illinois at Chicago, Library of the Health Sciences, the Wayne State University Library System for the Shiffman Medical Library Outreach and Community Engagement Program. This exhibition was developed and produced by the National Library of Medicine with research assistance from The Historical Society of Washington, D.C. and curated by Jill L. Newmark.

Today's Community Educational Program is also funded in part by Wayne State University School of Medicine Education.

Photos & Videos will be taken during the event for archival purposes.
If you prefer not to be photographed please inform the digital technician.

TODAY'S PROGRAM

Welcome & Introductions

Dr. De'Andrea Wiggins

Interim Director, Office of Diversity & Inclusion, WSU School of Medicine

The Civil War

Dr. Marc Kruman ~ Professor, History Department Chair

African Americans & the Civil War

Dr. Kidada Williams ~ Assistant Professor, History Department

Medicine in Detroit in the 1860s

Dr. Marsha Richmond ~ Associate Professor, History Department

The Civil War & Nursing

Dr. Deborah S. Walker ~ Associate Professor, College of Nursing

BREAK

Refreshments in Margherio Brush St. Lobby

Reading of Flag Poem

Dr. De'Andrea Wiggins

Lest We Forget: Black Civil War Soldiers & Sailors

Special Guest Speaker

Jeff O'Den ~ Historical Documentary Filmmaker

Adjourn

You are Invited to View the Binding Wounds Exhibit in Shiffman Library

~ Ask about K-12 Tours for Schools ~

Thank You!